PARTNER PACKAGE

We've been working with the University of Bristol to research the impact Talk It Out has and we found that 85% of the people who took part feel happier, clearer and as if a weight has been lifted from their shoulders as a result of doing TalkIt Out...

With such a positive impact, we want to give Talk It Out away to the world to help millions of people get clarity and gain the benefit of an emotional shift around who they are, whats going on in their lives and what they need to give attention to.

We've set Talk It Out up as a social enterprise so we can use it for the good of people across the planet, and here at Upping Your Elvis we're putting our time, our money and our energy into making this happen.

But we can't do this alone, we need your help too...

PARTNER PACKAGE

We want everyone to be able to use Talk it Out completely FREE, but we need partners to join us in making that mission a reality.

The benefits to you are huge. Join us as a partner and in return we'll train some of your own team to become fantastic Talk It Out facilitators, making sure they are skilled-up and ready to run Talk It Out sessions across your business, so you all get the most out of the technique.

Plus you'll also get:

- Quarterly video coaching sessions with Chris & Jim. We'll invite your facilitators to join us to talk about what's working well, what they need support on and what cool stuff we've all noticed from living and breathing the technique, at work and in life.
- A joint PR initiative and Social Media content to show everyone that by supporting Talk It Out you're doing good for your own people and the wider world
- A good feeling on the inside that comes from knowing that you're helping people to clear their minds and gain clarity, energy and inspiration.

The best part? To be a Talk It Out partner with us costs just £3,000 a year, all of which will be spent on making sure Talk It Out reaches the people who need it most. So by becoming a partner, you're helping people all over the world to live less stressful lives.

It feels good to do good, right? Get in touch today if you're up for joining us as a Talk It Our partner...
